

Limbo Man

FBI Special Agent Vee Frost does not care for Homeland Security's list of job qualifications when they ask to borrow her services. An experienced agent with a proven track record is good. Fluent in Russian hints of an assignment close to her heart. But Attractive female, under thirty-five sends up red flags. Obviously, DHS is asking for services above and beyond the call of duty. But a loan to Homeland Security would look great on her resume, and it sounds as if they really need her ...But when Vee agrees to turn on the charm for a mystery man who may hold the clue to something vital to U. S. security, she never anticipates a chase after two nuclear bombs from the old Soviet arsenal that will take her and the amnesiac Russian arms dealer from New York City to Connecticut, Colorado, New Jersey, and Florida, then on to Siberia and Iran. Nor does she expect to unearth a second personality beneath the facade of the tough arms dealer, Sergei Tokarev. A man with an agenda as hidden as the facts in his brain. No matter how strong the bond Vee and Sergei form as they chase from one danger to the next, it seems doubtful either of them will live long enough to enjoy a happy ending. Authors Note: LIMBO MAN and ORANGE BLOSSOMS & MAYHEM were written years apart, and yet the two stories, featuring amnesiac heroes, were uploaded back to back. My only excuse: with all the current headlines about Iran's nuclear program, it just seemed the right time for LIMBO MAN to go live.
