In book two of Twisted Fate: When an evil force from the past emerges threatening her life, Zarah Runningbear must turn to her friends for help. Born into the Native American bear shifter tribe, Zarah has been an outcast since the day her spirit animal matured never to come forth. Plagued in a life where spirits haunted her day and night, the meaning of her existence in the magical shifter world seems eminent on her future and purpose. Chad Browning, a young wolf shifter still sewing his oats, sets his sights on the alluring Zarah when a smooth run-in over coffee sets his wolf into a frenzy. With her safety on the line, he is willing to risk it all to save his one true mate and earn her affection. Kuruk Falls is an old spirit, living out yet another life in hopes of finding his mate. Tormented by dreams of a woman his bear desires and a wolf from his past, he has a choice to make in the crossroads ahead. The mere idea of mating another male is preposterous and ridiculous. But his bear has other ideas and no matter how hard he fights, he can't escape his bear's demands and desires. In an epic battle against forces of evil so great even the angels from above descend to fight with the elite paranormal forces to take back and protect the balance of the universe. Will the mystic Zarah's unknown powers be enough to dispose of Myeera once and for all? With the forces combined will it even be enough?
