

Sand and Foam

Sand and Foam is a book length poetic work first published in 1926. Much of Gibran's writings deal with Christianity, especially on the topic of spiritual love. But his mysticism is a convergence of several different influences : Christianity, Islam, Sufism, Hinduism and theosophy. His most famous work is The Prophet. One of his most notable lines of poetry in the English-speaking world is from Sand and Foam, which reads: Half of what I say is meaningless, but I say it so that the other half may reach you. This line was used by John Lennon and placed, though in a slightly altered form, into the song Julia from The Beatles 1968 album The Beatles (a.k.a. The White Album).
